

Spiritual Intelligence: Towards Inner Harmony and Integrity

October 17 and 18, 2011, New Delhi

Facilitated by

Malabika Shaw

"There is a higher intelligence, a deeper wisdom continually working through you. Learning to stay aligned with this intelligence, allows your life to assume a quality of grace and ease."

Your inner harmony nurtures your creative nature, your main motivator and problem solver. Your dreams, desires, ideas, plans and goals fire you up and make life exciting. And yet, are there times when you feel worried, anxious, frustrated, angry, trapped, blocked, confused or so overwhelmed that you begin to doubt yourself?

If so, you are not alone. Just as we are energized by our dreams, we are also held back by our fears – conscious and subconscious. We always operate within this band. We learn to release old fears and dream new dreams. This is the process of our evolution.

This unprecedented speed of current life brings exciting opportunities in its wake as well as unknown fears. Until you consciously learn to identify and release these latent fears, you are likely to feel overstretched and super stressed – sometimes into inaction. The good news is that there is a higher order of inner intelligence constantly working through you within which lies the wisdom to resolve this gap. This is your spiritual intelligence.

Luckily for us, research in the last few decades has given us deeper insights into the energetic processes, Many handy tools have also been developed to support us in aligning with our spiritual intelligence. This workshop brings you these insights and tools. It is designed to support you in:

- Understanding the energy dynamics of the spiritual/material continuum.
- Recognizing the source of recurring energy blocks and subconscious resistance and learning to systematically release them.
- Applying simple techniques to shift your consciousness to be in greater harmony with your dreams and goals.

There will be plenty of hands on experience.

You will also experience the group energy which magnifies the effect of all energy work.
